

Yankees can win another AL title today

NEW YORK (AP) — Just call it the Reggie and Thurman Show. Thurman Munson's two-run eighth-inning homer put the finishing touch on what Reggie Jackson started Friday with a solo homer in the second inning, a run-scoring single in the fourth and a 415-foot sacrifice fly in the sixth.

The one-time adversaries, who pooled their talents to lead the Yankees to the 1977 World Championship and another American League East Division title this season, had a hand in all the runs as the Yankees nipped the star-crossed Kansas City Royals 6-5 and took a 2-1 lead in the best-of-five AL playoffs.

"Nobody hits a ball like that," Jackson said of Munson's game-winning shot off Doug Bird, a 430-foot rocket that cleared Yankee Stadium's infamous expanse known as Death Valley and came to rest in the visitor's bullpen behind the left-center field fence. "Jim Rice is the strongest hitter in the league and he didn't hit a ball in that bullpen."

Munson, who has been bothered by a series of ailments all season and hit only six home runs — the last 55 games ago — said he hit "a high fast ball; I think it may have been out of the strike zone. I didn't think the ball would be caught, but I didn't know if it was a home run, either."

"I was just trying to hit the ball hard somewhere. I can't recall a bigger hit this year. It was a big hit right now, that's all that matters. I never hit one that felt better. I was trying to avoid hitting into a double play. I wanted to give Reggie a chance to hit."

Although their lockers are still at opposite ends of the Yankee clubhouse, Munson and Jackson seem to be drawing closer to some sort of mutual admiration — though they don't go about it openly.

They have come a long way since last year's early-season magazine article in which Jackson called himself "The straw that stirs the drink" on the Yankees and said Munson was jealous of him.

The result was that Jackson remained his usual gregarious self while Munson withdrew in a cocoon of silence.

"That article was the only thing that was ever bad between us," Munson said. "I've been playing too long for that ego stuff. Things weren't printed like they were two or three years ago, and the only thing that came out was that I had an ego clash with Reggie. As long as that was going to be it, as long as it came out controversial no matter what I said, I just shut up."

He let his bat do the talking.

"I admire a great performance," Jackson said, "and the ball Thurman hit was a great performance. We have a good relationship. There's respect on both sides."

Someone asked if there was any warmth between them.

"I'd say so, yes," Jackson replied. "You can't play with a man like that and not like him. It's impossible to play with a man like that for three, four, five, six months and not like him. I like him and I respect him."

So Munson's dramatic gamewinning blow came as no surprise to Jackson.

"I don't get surprised at things like that," he said. "We're out there to win. That's what you're trying to accomplish. It doesn't surprise me; it pleases me."

"He gets ready for those situations and he gets the job done. As long as I've hit behind him, he does what has to be done in key situations. I can see him not trying to pull the ball to the left side as much or overpower the ball as much because he's been hurting."

"He just tries to make contact and hit the ball to right field and advance the runners."

The heroics of Munson and Jackson overshadowed a pair of rally-starting singles by Roy White.

Carlton stops Phil phlop

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Steve Carlton said the knock that he has never won a big game doesn't bother him.

Carlton, who until Friday night was 0-3 in postseason competition, explained that such negative thinking was against his philosophy.

Carlton, the Philadelphia Phillies left-hander, beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 9-4 in the third game of the National League playoffs Friday night — not only stopping the Dodgers with his pitching, but blasting a three-run homer, a single and driving home four runs.

"It's just the way the record is," he said of his previous two playoff defeats and a loss in the 1967 World Series when he was with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Friday night, Carlton's pitching and hitting kept the Phillies from being eliminated from the 1978 NL playoffs.

Carlton almost singlehandedly kept them from sinking to a third consecutive playoff series elimination.

Carlton had been bypassed by Manager Danny Ozark in the first two games of the series because the pitcher is troubled with an inflammation in his pitching shoulder.

"I haven't thrown or picked up a baseball since last Friday against Pittsburgh. My arm gave me some degree of pain while I was warming up," said the 1977 Cy Young Award winner.

"I didn't throw very well, but we won. That's the main thing, we won," he said.

Ozark admitted Carlton probably won't pitch again in this series.

"No, I would not attempt to use Lefty (Carlton) unless he is definitely sound, which I don't expect," the Phillies' manager said. "I don't expect him to pitch, even if we go to a fifth game Sunday."

Ozark said he canceled a planned pre-game meeting because of his team's great attitude in the clubhouse before the contest.

"I thought they had a very good attitude," said Ozark. "They were talking baseball. They were talking about not making a liar out of me. They were very high for the game. A meeting was unnecessary."

Ozark had predicted the Phillies would win the series in a three-game sweep. After losing the first, he amended it to winning any three in a row.

Outfielder Greg Luzinski, who had two singles and a home run in the third-game victory, said, "Everybody on this club believes in themselves. We have a good club. Carlton helped himself with his hitting, and we all were loose."

Luzinski said the Phillies have to think only about Saturday's game at this point.

"I don't think we can worry about Sunday," said the 245-pound slugger who hit 35 home runs in the regular season. "We've got to worry only about tomorrow (Saturday)."

"They (the Dodgers) are a good club and they're tough," said Luzinski. "They're not going to lay down and die."

Phillies shortstop Larry Bowa commented, "I feel better than I did yesterday (Thursday). But our backs are still to the wall. The advantage still is with the LA Dodgers."

Second baseman Ted Sizemore, a former Dodger, also felt the Phillies were very loose.

"It's just a matter of going out and giving 100 percent," said Sizemore. "If we get behind, we don't give up. And if we lose, we can walk off with our heads high."

First baseman Richie Hebner, talking about Saturday's game, observed, "We have to come out of the chute and score early. And if we do, it might be very interesting."

Ozark said he would use left-hander Randy Lerch, another pitcher who can hit the long ball, in Saturday's fourth game.

Kennedy still confident despite loss to Hempstead

By Mark Dukes
Gazette sports writer

Dubuque Hempstead's Dave Loring sure wasn't boring Friday night — except from Cedar Rapids Kennedy's point of view.

Loring, the Mississippi Valley Conference leading rusher, forged for 153 yards (29 carries) and the winning touchdown as the Mustangs clipped the Cougars 14-7 at Kingston Stadium.

It put the sixth-ranked Mustangs 3-0 in the conference, tied with Cedar Rapids Washington. Kennedy, which lost in double overtime to Washington last week, dropped to 2-2 in the league and 3-2 overall.

"What can I say?" said Cougar Coach Greg Reed, whose team was ranked No. 7 by AP and No. 8 by UPI. "It's no fun to lose but I can't fault the kids."

"I don't think a playoff berth is out yet, either. Sure, we'll have to go 7-2, but Kennedy will pick up and be back next week."

Loring, who has now gained 435 yards in three conference games, rushed 10 times for 55 yards in Hempstead's 80-yard, fourth-quarter scoring drive.

The Mustangs took over on their 20 after blocking Denny McDonnell's field goal try from 27 yards.

Hempstead earned its initial second-half first down with 7:15 remaining. But that was just the beginning.

Loring picked up all four first downs in the final march and gained the last 37 yards in six carries.

He bruised the left side of Kennedy's defense for most of his yardage, including the decisive 10-yard end run with 2:49 left.

"You know, that's the same score we beat them by in last year's game to decide the championship," said Hempstead Coach Bob Timmerman, who has topped Kennedy three straight years. "It was a hard-hitting game, which is typical ever since Greg Reed has been at Kennedy."

"But the big thing was our inability to hold the ball inside their 40-yard line. Their down defensive tackles did a great job causing fumbles."

One of those "down" tackles, 6-1, 248-pound junior Brian Kramer, helped force three of Hempstead's four fumbles.

Kramer's hit and Bob Schultz's fumble recovery on Hempstead's first possession gave Kennedy great field position — Mustang 30. But incomplete passes on third and fourth down killed the Cougar threat.

Then Hempstead manufactured an impressive 76-yard, 12-play touchdown drive. Tom Holt scored from the eight but it was Loring who carried five times for 37 yards and two first downs.

After McDonnell missed his 24-yard field goal with 2:27 left in the half, the Cougars got the ball right back on Gary Lovik's fumble recovery at the Hempstead 38. But again, the Cougar bid failed.

Reed's plot in the second half was to control the ball from the start and tie the game. Kennedy kept the ball six minutes to start the final half but the march was foiled when a fourth-and-one play failed from the Hempstead 27.

But three plays later, Kramer stripped the ball from Mustang QB Rick Crews and Schultz recovered again (on Hempstead's 29). This time the Cougars capitalized.

On fourth-and-three Mike Bennett hit Toby Michael looking in for a 9-yard touchdown with 3:02 left in the third. McDonnell's point after tied it.

Kramer forced another fumble two minutes later and Jeff Lane got the ball on Hempstead's 40. Ten plays carried the Cougars to the 11 but McDonnell's 27-yard field goal try was blocked by Roy Snyder.

Michael, the conference's leading receiver, caught six of Bennett's nine completions for 46 yards.

Pete Oates, Kennedy's bruising fullback and second-leading conference rusher, gained 93 yards in 22 carries. He rushed only seven times for 29 yards in the first half.

Marion still perfect

TIPTON — Marion, the state's highest-ranked Class 3A football team, remained undefeated Friday night by posting a 28-7 win over Tipton.

The Indians, ranked No. 1 in the Des Moines Register's 3A ratings, raised their Wamac Conference record to 3-0 while Tipton fell to 1-2.

Halfback Brad McAreavy scored two times, on runs of 2 and 4 yards for Marion, which is ranked 9th by AP and 10th by UPI.

Indian quarterback Steve Schone connected on a 49-yard pass to Tom Turner, and Robbie Bolyard capped the Marion scoring with a 2-yard run.

Kevin Anderson scored on a 7-yard run for the losers' only points.

Marion, the only remaining unbeaten football team in the Metro area, has outscored its opponents 149-19 so far this year.

Iowa wants points, ISU wants Huskers

By Gus Schrader
Gazette sports editor

Iowa's defensive backfield will be trying to get out of the "oh-oh" zone today at Iowa City, and Iowa State's team will be seeking a third straight victory over Nebraska today at Ames.

The Cyclones are expected to outdraw the Hawkeyes for a change, as they have a sellout of 51,450 in Unnamed Stadium, while Iowa anticipates about 48,000 in Kinnick Stadium.

Football fans are reminded the Iowa-Utah game will start at 1 o'clock today, with the Iowa State-Nebraska contest opening at 1:30.

Tom Cecchini, Iowa's defensive coordinator, told the Linn County I Club Friday noon at the Roosevelt Royale that the Hawkeye secondary is in the "oh-oh" zone right now, "because we've had some passing bombs completed against us and the defensive backs are thinking, 'Oh-oh, here comes another one,' instead of getting set to knock the pass down or intercept it."

The Hawkeye assistant said several Iowa players are out with injury: Center Jay Hilgenberg, cornerback Cedric Shaw and defensive end Steve Wagner. Hilgenberg's ankle may permit him to play soon, however.

Iowa's swimming coach, Glenn Patton, also spoke briefly at the Linn I Club luncheon. He said Randy Ableman, former C.R. Washington all-America diver, is out of school this year, working under Ron O'Brien, former Ohio State diving coach, at the famed Mission Viejo, Calif., program. Ableman plans to return to Iowa in 1979-80 if the Hawkeyes have a deeper diving pool by then.

Patton coached the Hawkeyes to their initial first-division finish in the Big Ten last season, the first time in 16 years they have been that high.

Other Iowa college games today: Coe at Ripon, Cornell at Monmouth, Beloit at Grinnell in the Midwest Conference; Luther at Upper Iowa, Central at Wartburg, Buena Vista at William Penn and Dubuque at Simpson in the Iowa Conference, plus North Dakota at UNI (N), Wichita State at Drake, Graceland at Iowa Wesleyan, Morningside at South Dakota, Northwestern (Iowa) at Westminster, Northwestern (Wis.) at Lorain.

IOWA CITY — Cedar Rapids LaSalle and Iowa City Regina battled to a 20-20 tie in regulation time in prep football Friday. The Regals stopped the Lancers in a second overtime 27-26 to up their ECIC record to 1-1, 4-1 overall.

Bill Herbert was the Regina workhorse totaling 152 yards in 40 carries, including the tying touchdown in overtime and another tally in regulation play.

LaSalle, now 2-3 overall and 1-2 in ECIC play, scored first as Jeff Sears sprinted 44 yards for a TD. Lancer quarterback Duane Schulte had a hand in on four scores. He scored on runs of 1 and 25 yards, threw a 32-yard touchdown pass to Dan Spoden and ran for a two-point conversion.

Bart Suplell hooked up with Chris Daniels on a six-yard scoring pass and John Eicher plunged to paydirt from the one for the other Regal tallies. Roger Landuyt's toe provided the winning margin in overtime after LaSalle had missed its extra point kick attempt.
