It's all hash today

• Friends of ours from the Dallas, Texas, area attended the Iowa-Indiana football game and were fascinated by a bumper sticker, they say. It read:

"HOOK 'EM HAWKS — Well, it works in Texas."

Anybody know where we can buy one? We promised to send our friends one for their car bumper.

• Mrs. Reginald Figge, 2222 First Ave. NE, Cedar Rapids, has another good reason to be a proud grandmother.

Craig Teeters, her grandson, has been named the outstanding high school swimmer in the state of Florida and he has accepted a swim scholarship to Florida State at Tallahassee. He graduated from Woolfsen High in Jacksonville.

Craig's older sister, Julie, also was a topnotch swimmer and went to Duke on a swim scholarship. However, she had to give up the sport for health reasons but still attends Duke.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Teeters of Jacksonville. Mrs. Teeters is the former Janet Figge, who grew up in Cedar Rapids.

• We worry a lot about Bobby Knight, Indiana's tempestuous basketball coach. You might say Bobby is on the lam right now. The court in Puerto Rico has issued a warrant for his arrest, but the governor of Indiana says he never would consider extraditing Bobby to Puerto Rico, where he has been sentenced to jail and fined — in absentia — for alleged law-breaking during the Pan American Games.

So Bobby is safe in Indiana. No worry there, okay? But Bobby can't stay inside Indiana's friendly confines forever. But suppose, for example, that next Jan. 17 when Bobby brings his Hoosiers to Iowa that two swarthy men suddenly slap handcuffs on him when he steps off the airport bus and say, "Buenos noches, Señor Bobbee. We have orders to take you to the slammer in San Juan, no es verdad?"

Will Bobby be looking askance at anyone with a Spanish accent or a breath smelling like tacos?

• No one collects malaprops more assiduously than Tom Ecker, athletic coordinator of the Cedar Rapids Community Schools. So Tom was delighted to receive a card from a Japanese friend of his in Hiroshima who prides himself on his ability to speak and write good English.

"I heard from Prof. Sasaki, translator of your book, saying it was published about three weeks ago," the friend wrote. "I'm sure you've received it. How do you like it? I hope it'll sell like hot dogs."

• Johnnie Butler, who switched from Iowa to Northern Illinois as assistant basketball coach, told us he had to make the move for financial reasons.

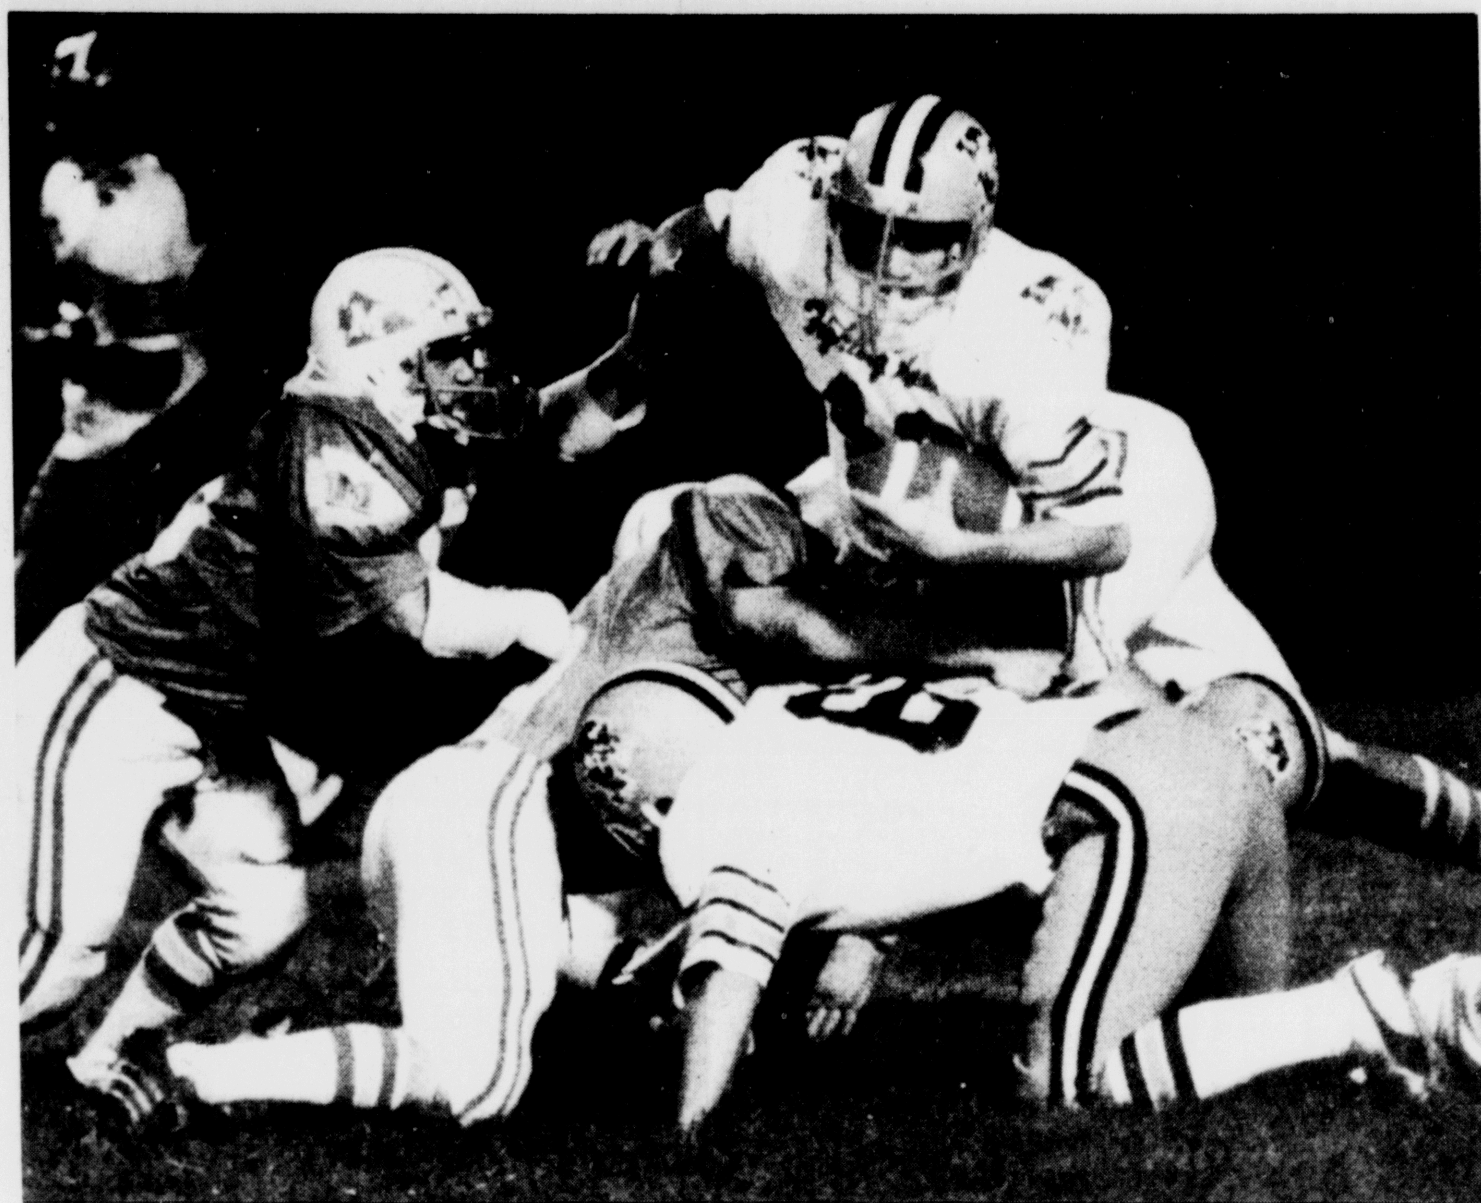

"I didn't actually have full-time status on the Iowa staff," Johnnie said. "The NCAA has strict rules about how many assistants you can have and how much you can pay them if they're not full time. I will be full time at Northern Illinois, and that means a bigger salary. I will miss Iowa, and I certainly wish Coach Lute Olson and his squad a lot of luck."

We asked if Olson's "Chicago connection" will be severed without Johnnie, as he formerly coached at Calumet High there (he coached Iowa's Kenny Arnold).

"Oh, no," he replied. "Tony McAndrews and Jim Rosborough (Iowa's other two aides) have a lot of good contacts in Chicago, too."

• Well, if misery loves company, Iowa's football team wasn't the first to have a great first half only to lose in the second half. Look at the poor snail darters.

Joe Smith of Cedar Rapids Prairie finds the going tough as he is swarmed under by a pack of Marion defenders Friday night. The Indians' defense stopped the Hawks most of the evening as they extended their regular season winning streak to 17 games with an 18-6 victory.

Marion defense silences Prairie

By Mark Dukes
Gazette sportswriter

Marion squeezed more out of 26 yards passing Friday night than Anita Bryant could ever hope to get out of an orange.

Two of Tony Perkins' three pass completions went for touchdowns to John Warner while the Marion defense allowed just 15 second-half rushing yards in an 18-6 high school football victory over visiting Cedar Rapids Prairie.

The Indians not only celebrated their 17th straight regular-season win, but also cherished victory in the school's 500th football game. Marion (2-0) now has won 293, lost 175 and tied 32 since the program began in 1922.

However, it was a bittersweet triumph for Coach Bob Thurness, his staff and players.

Robbie Bolyard, instrumental in Marion's second-half surge on the ground, suffered a severe ankle injury at the end of a fourth-quarter play. It is believed a bone in his ankle was cracked.

And defensive end Scott Dolley also hobbled off the field in the fourth quarter with a twisted knee.

"I'm sorry I don't have much to say because I'm stung by the injuries," Thurness said. "All of our backs ran hard but Prairie hit the heck out of us all the way."

Marion scored on its first possession, grinding out 39 yards in eight plays after a Mike McAreavy punt return. Junior Vaughn Klopfenstein rushed four times for 19 yards during the drive while Perkins set up a 10-yard TD strike to Warner with an eight-yard completion to Chris Shihane.

But that was the only first-half excitement, as the Indians totaled only 69 yards total offense the first two quarters while Prairie (1-1) managed just 58.

Bolyard (5-6, 155), who carried only twice for nine yards in the first half, ran five times for 36 yards during Marion's first third-quarter possession — but the Indians' drive stalled on the Prairie 23-yard line.

The defense stiffened, though, and Jerry Nibeck steamed in to block Mitch

Porter's punt — Marion taking over on the Hawk 18 with 5:21 left in the third.

Bolyard carried for eight yards, then the Perkins-to-Warner combination clicked on an eight-yard scoring strike — using the same square out pattern that produced the Indians' first six points.

Prairie, limited to a pair of first downs in each half against the Marion starters, advanced into Indian territory for the first time with two minutes left in the third. Prairie moved to the Marion 35 on Brad Wicher's four-yard run but the Hawks' second delay-of-game penalty of the drive forced them to punt.

After an exchange, Ken Waters cut off right tackle and ran down the sidelines for 33 yards to the Prairie 11. After Klopfenstein gained a yard, Waters scampered 10 yards to make it 18-0 with 7:06 left.

Marion, which had blanked Prairie 23-0 and 22-0 the last two seasons, failed to post a third straight shutout when Hawk quarterback Scott Lynch lofted a 30-yard touchdown pass to Mitch Porter with 15 seconds left.

Sooners looking for hot time today

By Bob Hersom
Gazette sportswriter

NORMAN, Okla. — If Iowa's football players can't stand the heat, they should get out of the kitchen, says Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer, who plans to roast the Hawkeyes today at Memorial Stadium.

Temperatures could reach the 90s when the Sooners meet Iowa for the first time in football.

"I don't think Iowa is used to that kind of heat," says Switzer, a heavy favorite to improve his record to 63-6-2 since taking the Sooners' reins in 1973.

Switzer did not see Iowa's season-opening, 30-26 loss to Indiana last Saturday. But the Sooners' secondary coach, Bobby Proctor, did — and Switzer says he's impressed with the Hawks. Then, again, what did you expect him to say?

"We sent Bobby to scout them because we expected them to pass a lot," says Switzer. "He was impressed with the way their quarterback, Phil Suess, can throw the ball and he said the backs have a lot of speed. He was especially impressed with Dennis Mosley."

"But we have no way of evaluating their defense or offensive line. We don't know that much about them."

Switzer insists that Iowa has an advantage, even though Oklahoma will be a 31-point favorite, playing on its home turf.

"A lot of upsets occur in the first three weeks of the season, and we haven't played yet while they have," says Barry.

"The team that already has played a game has a tremendous advantage over the one that hasn't."

A problem both teams may encounter is finding a way to the stadium.

Bill Jones, chief of security for Oklahoma, says there will be a "serious traffic problem" due to road work being done near Memorial Stadium. Construction has limited the Dallas Interchange, which connects Interstates 40 and 35, to one lane.

Presuming they find a way there, 71,000 fans will watch the game, marking the Sooners' 30th consecutive sellout. Oklahoma has won its last 10 season openers.

The last time the Sooners lost a season opener at home was 1960, when Northwestern prevailed 19-3.

Iowa Coach Hayden Fry met the Sooners three times when he was at Southern Methodist, beating them 28-27 in the 1968 Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl but losing season openers in 1970 (28-11) and '71 (30-0).

The Hawks drilled for an hour and 15 minutes Friday at Memorial Stadium. They'll return home immediately following Saturday's game, arriving at the Cedar Rapids airport at 7 p.m.

Comeback teams clash at UNI

By The Associated Press

Long-time football rivals Northern Iowa and North Dakota State, both come-from-behind winners last week, clash tonight in a non-conference game in the UNI-Dome.

All other Iowa colleges also have football action scheduled today or tonight.

Northern Iowa and North Dakota State were rivals in the North Central conference. UNI shifted to the Mid-Continent Conference last fall, and won its first game in that circuit last weekend when it scored nine points in the last four minutes to edge Northern Michigan, 11-7.

Grinnell opens its season under new coach Ed Dombrowski tonight against Iowa Wesleyan at Mt. Pleasant.

In other Iowa college games today, Central (0-1) invades Cornell (1-0), Coe (1-0) entertains Wartburg (1-0), Luther (0-1) travels with Carleton, Upper Iowa (1-0) is host to Northwestern of Minnesota, Buena Vista (1-0) entertains Northwestern (1-1), William Penn (2-0) is host to Monmouth, Loras (0-1) goes to St. Ambrose (0-1), Morningside (0-2) is host to Baker, Dubuque (1-0) travels to Illinois Benedictine, Simpson (1-0) invades Midland, Graceland (1-0) goes to Culver-Stockton, and Westmar (0-1) travels to Dakota Wesleyan.

Cougars hold off I.C. West

By Brian Chapman
Gazette sports reporter

Mistakes continue to riddle the Iowa City West football squad and probably the most serious one of the young season occurred Friday night, denying the Trojans any hopes of an upset win over Cedar Rapids Kennedy.

With 3:49 remaining in the fourth period, the Trojans sent two safeties deep to receive a Kennedy punt. One called for a fair catch, but the other promptly fielded the ball and ran upfield. Instead of being penalized yardage, the Trojans were forced to give up possession of the ball and Kennedy took over on the West 30-yard line. Kennedy was able to run out the clock and preserve an 18-14 win.

Moments earlier the outcome had been in some doubt despite Kennedy's domination of the game with its defense and a capable running game.

West quarterback Matt Thornton engineered an 80-yard, 10-play drive that included pass completions of 20 and 36 yards to fleet receiver Gene Lytle. On the first play of the fourth quarter, Lytle swept left on an end around and raced the intervening 10 yards into the end zone. The extra point narrowed the Cougar lead to four, 18-14. Momentum seemed to have clearly shifted to West.

Kennedy Coach Greg Reed, recording his initial victory off the season after suffering an opening game loss to Regis last week, said he wasn't surprised by West's challenge.

"I've said all the time that they'd be tough. John (West Coach Meskimen) has brought them around — they will beat some people this year."

In the first half, the idea that West could defeat anyone might have seemed wildly ridiculous, given the way they were rudely manhandled by Kennedy's defensive and offensive units. West could only muster seven yards rushing and another 26 passing, 22 of that coming on the final play of the half.

By contrast, the Cougars ran and passed for 173 first half yards which allowed them to control the ball the majority of the time. However, it was the tried and true Kennedy defense which set up the first Cougar score.

Shane Berry stole a Thornton pass at midfield and returned it to the West 34-yard line late in the first quarter. Moments later, Joel Smith went off right tackle for eight yards and a touchdown, giving the Cougars a 6-0 lead. On its next possession Kennedy rolled 79 yards in 14 plays to up its lead to 12-0.

The Kennedy defense turned heroic three plays later when linebacker Jeff Lane snatched a Trojan pass and returned it six yards. But on the next play West's Dave Schrock returned the favor by intercepting and racing 79 yards up the left sideline and scoring with the aid of Steve Gragg's two key blocks.

At that point Kennedy held a narrow 12-7 lead, but virtually no one expected the Trojans to make a game of it in the final 24 minutes.

Linn-Mar breezes

ANAMOSA — Piling up 373 yards in total offense, Linn-Mar scored in every quarter Friday night en route to a 25-0 victory over Anamosa.

The Lions' Tom Nolan completed 7 of 16 passes for 142 yards, including a 22-yard touchdown toss to Mark Dickens in the second quarter.

Doug Wilson scored the Lions' first TD on a 5-yard run.

Mark Vesey and Jeff Nielsen each scored on 1-yard runs, Vesey in the third period, Nielsen in the fourth.

The win evened Linn-Mar's season record at 1-1.

Rarity! Irish are rated underdog

Associated Press

Notre Dame University President Rev. Theodore Hesburg may be seeing red, but black and blue are likely to be the primary colors today when sixth-ranked Michigan hosts the ninth-ranked Fighting Irish.

Hesburgh, making a rare appearance Thursday night at a student pep rally on the Notre Dame campus, was a little disappointed that the nation's bookies had made the Irish a 6- to 7-point underdog for its season opener. And he let his feelings be known.

Councilman swims Channel

DOVER, Eng. (AP) — James 'Doc' Councilman, 58-year-old swimming coach at Indiana University, became the oldest person ever to swim the English Channel Friday when he reached shore in France after a grueling 13½-hour swim from England.

Councilman, a grandfather, landed near Cap Cris Nez, France, at 7:30 p.m. local time after setting out from Shakespeare Beach, Dover, at 6:15 a.m.

The dawn-to-dusk swim made him the oldest person ever to swim the 21-mile channel, the Channel Swimming Association reported.

The previous record was held by Scotsman Ned Barrie, who made the crossing in 1951 at the age of 55.

Top bikers to compete Sunday

Top bikers from across the Midwest will converge on Iowa Sunday at Wendy Oaks (three miles north of Springville) to take part in the National Regional Championship amateur moto-cross races.

The meet, which is the first of its kind to ever be held in Iowa, will be sponsored in part by the Cedar Valley Trail Riders.

The competition will include 160 riders from a 13-state area. Area drivers that should fare well are John Lampe of Cedar Rapids and Mike Theisen of Hiawatha in the 100cc class. In the 125cc division Johnny Spaw of Cedar Rapids is the favorite. Last year Spaw finished fourth in the nation in this class. Scott Hall, also of Cedar Rapids, should finish high in the Open division.

Four classes will be run in Sunday's race — the 100cc, 125cc, 250cc and the Open — with each having two motos (heats). Each class will run 30 minutes plus two additional laps for one moto. The top 13 overall finishers in each class will qualify for the National Amateur Moto-cross Championships in California to be held later this year.

Members of the CVRT have been hard at work improving the conditions of the track.

"We filled in some holes, built up the old jumps and made some new ones," commented former CVRT president Henry Boesenberg.

"We also lengthened the track to a mile and a third," concluded Boesenberg.

Sports in Brief

WBC takes Galindez' title

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — The World Boxing Association Friday stripped Victor Galindez of his middleweight title and gave him until Oct. 7 to appeal the decision.

Galindez, an Argentine, won the WBA title for a second time in a bout with Mike Rossman of the United States. Rossman, in September 1978, had taken the title from Galindez, who had held it since 1974.

Ernesto Cherquis Bialo, president of the press commission of the WBA, said Friday that a vote of 16-1 by the boxing association forced the decision to take the world middleweight title from Galindez.

Eichelberger jumps into lead

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (UPI) — Dave Eichelberger overcame a double-bogey for the second straight day Friday to grab a two-stroke lead after the second round of a $150,000 PGA tournament at Warwick Hills Country Club.

The 35-year-old Texan, who opened the tourney with a 68, fought off Friday's windy conditions for a 70, good for a 36-hole total of 6-under-par 138.

Eichelberger's 70 earned him the lead over first round co-leader Cesar Sanudo, who hit a 73; George Burns, who shot a 72 and former Masters champion George Archer, who carded a 72.

Moses wins 36th straight

LONDON — Olympic champion Edwin Moses gained his 36th consecutive 400-meter hurdle victory Friday, finishing more than one and a half seconds ahead of fellow American James King at an international track and field meet.

Moses, undefeated in this event for two years, ran away from the field to clock 48.3 seconds, the fastest time ever on British soil but well outside his world record of 47.4.

Bradley-Palmer lead tourney

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Pat Bradley, second leading money winner on the tour, and her partner, Sandra Palmer, posted a record 12-under-par 61 Friday to lead the field after the first round of the Portland LPGA Team Championship golf tournament.
