It's fine to get excited about today's Iowa-Iowa State game — Corn Bowl IV — at Iowa City, but please don't regard it as something more than a friendly athletic contest.

It's not a civil war, not an excuse for drunkenness and bad manners, not an invitation to rush onto the field to tear down the goal posts — no matter who wins.

Each side has had a turn at childish fun. ISU loyalists ripped down the goal posts after the 1978 game, and Iowa fans did it last year.

So now that both are grown up, let's cut out the violent acts that could lead to serious injury, property damage and ugly situations.

After all, this one is just for the state championship. Each football team has eight games to play, including seven conference contests apiece. So keep the champagne — and tempers — cool until after that.

Player examples

If you think today's game is a real shooting war, then you should talk to the players involved. They'll belt the jabbers out of each other from 1:05 to 4 p.m. today, but after that they'll shake hands with old friends on the other team and be peaceful until same time next year.

For instance, Doug Dunham, Iowa senior end from Iowa City, is looking forward to greeting some amigos among the Cyclones.

"Brian Neal (Iowa State guard who missed the entire 1979 season with a knee injury) and I are good friends," Dunham said. "We roomed together in the Shrine All-Star game after we finished high school."

"Brian has come to Iowa City a few times to see me. Last year he brought along Jack Seabrooke, Iowa State's fullback, and Scotty Hansen, their former linebacker. They stayed at the dorm with us and went over to watch the Iowa-Iowa State wrestling meet with Jay Hilgenberg, me and a bunch of others. They're great guys, and we get along fine."

Dunham is the youngest of five children. His mother attended Iowa for one year. His father is a foreman on a construction crew laying natural-gas pipeline near Chicago, but you may be sure he gets away weekends to see Doug play.

Doug's brothers, Dan, 26, and Dave, 24, also were ends at Iowa City High. His sister, Cindy, 28, teaches in Puerto Rico, and another sister, Diane, lives in Des Moines.

1 percent chance?

Doug, who hopes to get a degree in recreation next year, scoffs at any suggestion he might play pro ball.

"Being realistic, I haven't even considered it," he said. "Look, about 1 percent of college football players make it in the NFL. The best athletes among my teammates have never been able to make it — outstanding players like Tom Rusky, Dave Becker, Dennis Mosley, Brad Reed, Jim Swift and Jim Molini — so I don't have any hopes."

Doug said he never considered any school but Iowa.

"I was born in Iowa City, and I saw my first Iowa game when I was about 12," he said. "I was pretty well influenced into becoming a Hawk all the way."

"... I couldn't believe the score of our 57-0 loss at Nebraska. They have a great team. We had a good game plan, hoping to find weaknesses in their defense. Their defensive backs were very quick, recovering well if you beat them on a pass pattern."

"Personally, I had a terrible game. I busted a few routes. I didn't seem to be concentrating. No, it wasn't the Nebraska mystique. I can't figure it out, but we simply have to put that game behind us and get ready for Iowa State."

Pass the hash

Iowa's Ronnie Lester was injured again in the Chicago Bulls' 98-89 exhibition loss to the Detroit Pistons at Grand Rapids, Mich., Thursday night. However, Coach Jerry Sloan said it was a "turned left ankle" and not any further problems with Lester's right knee.

Lester scored six points in 15 minutes of the Bulls' opening win over Kansas City, and he got eight (four for six) in 19 minutes of their 104-87 loss to the Washington Bullets Wednesday night.

Will Iowa State have 'special' help today?

By Gus Schrader
Gazette sports columnist

Two questions concerned Iowa's football camp on the eve of today's "state championship" game that will draw a turn-away crowd of 60,000 to Kinnick Stadium:

1. Did Nebraska benefit from special information about Iowa's offense and defense in the 57-0 rout of the Hawks last week at Lincoln, Neb.?

2. If Nebraska actually did have such information, did Coach Tom Osborne's staff share it with Iowa State to help the Cyclones prepare for today's contest?

Iowa Coach Hayden Fry declined to answer questions about either possibility Friday, but he did make a comment that raised eyebrows at the Johnson County I Club breakfast Friday morning at the Highlander Restaurant in Iowa City.

"We are not as bad as last week's (57-0) loss made us look," Fry said. "We are hopeful Nebraska is that good, because that would make us look better."

"However, after looking at the films, we're not sure Nebraska was that good. We were fighting something that wasn't evident to the eye in just watching the game."

"We know Iowa State is an excellent team, and we just hope they don't benefit from things we weren't aware of last week."

Fry refused to elaborate on his comments when asked how Nebraska came by any special information or if he thought the Nebraska staff would pass along useful tips to Iowa State's staff. Schools in the same conference have been known to share scouting reports on a non-league opponent.

At a press conference in Ames Tuesday, ISU Coach Donnie Duncan was asked if he had consulted with the Nebraska staff on how they handled the Hawkeyes' offense and defense so well. Duncan said he had not, adding he and Fry had too good a relationship to do that.

In contrast to the last three years, when Iowa State's squad worked out in Iowa's Kinnick Stadium on the Friday before the game, the Cyclones this year were bused to Cedar Rapids late Friday afternoon and were scheduled to spend Friday night at Stouffer's Five Seasons Hotel.

At the Friday noon Linn County I Club luncheon at the Roosevelt Hotel in Cedar Rapids, Iowa assistant coach Donnie Patterson also made comments hinting at Nebraska's unusually good scouting report on Iowa.

"They (Nebraska) knew very well what we were going to do," Patterson said. "We believe that from things that have

Cedar Rapids/Saturday, Sept. 27, 1980

Iowa City West quarterback Kip Sheldon falls on his own fumble during his team's game with Cedar Rapids Kennedy at Kingston Stadium Friday night. Kennedy won the Mississippi Valley Conference battle, 27-12.

Kennedy stays tied for MVC lead

By Mark Dukes
Gazette sports writer

Cedar Rapids Kennedy racked up 392 yards in total offense, scored more points than it has in two years and remained in a tie for the Mississippi Valley Conference football lead Friday night.

Still, Greg Reed, perfectionist that he is, wasn't totally satisfied while assessing Kennedy's 27-12 homecoming victory over Iowa City West before about 2,500 fans at Kingston Stadium.

"It was nice to play all 82 kids," Reed said, "but I'm not happy with the execution of our No. 1 units, both offense and defense."

"We still haven't played a complete game yet. On West's first series of plays they got a couple first downs, and that told me we weren't ready. I was happy that we got some long drives together, but not with the line play."

Kennedy's 27 points was its most in 16 games, dating back to a 28-8 win over Iowa City High, Oct. 19, 1978. It also was the Cougars' third straight victory, the first time the school has put together such a string since the first three games of '78.

Kennedy, 3-1 overall, now is tied for the Valley lead at 3-0 with Cedar Rapids

Washington, which escaped Dubuque Wahlert 20-14 Friday. The Cougars and Warriors clash Oct. 9 at Kingston.

The breakdown in Kennedy's total offense was 270 yards rushing in 45 attempts and 122 yards passing. Mark McClintic connected on five of 10 passes for 72 yards, Jim McDonald two of two for 50.

The Cougars rolled to a 20-0 halftime lead on two short touchdown runs by tailback Joel Smith and a 40-yard pass from McDonald to Scott Owens, Kennedy's first passing TD this year.

Greg Spicher's 75-yard scoring run on a counter play put Kennedy in front 27-0 with 9:07 left in the third quarter. It was on the next series that Reed started substituting freely.

"It was about what I expected," said West Coach Jon Meskimen, former Cedar Rapids Jefferson star and LaSalle coach. "I would say Kennedy is the surprise team in the conference. Right now the momentum is on their side."

West lost its 10th straight game and its 14th consecutive league contest. However, the Trojans salvaged something with two fourth-quarter touchdowns, as it was the first time the school has scored more than seven points in 10 outings.

West, which accumulated 135 of its 164 yards in the fourth quarter, broke the ice by driving 78 yards in eight plays against Kennedy's reserves. Quarterback Kevin Casady's 38-yard run set up a five-yard scoring run by Tim Soper with 4:32 left.

Then Casady and Paul McKay combined for three pass plays the next possession, the last for a 19-yard TD with just nine seconds remaining. The other completions were for 13 and 30 yards.

Kennedy scored on its first three possessions on the following drives: 67 yards in 11 plays, 72 yards in eight and 77 in eight. Spicher's 75-yard run in the third period was the third play of that series.

Spicher carried the ball four times for 84 yards and caught two passes for 47. Smith was next in rushing with 53 yards in nine attempts, Tom Myers had 53 in seven and Marc Meyer 48 in eight.

Owens caught two passes totaling 49 yards and Kevin Lukes grabbed three for 26. Jay Fitzharris killed two West drives with interceptions.

McKay was the leading receiver with five catches for 71 yards. Bill Phillips was West's top rusher with 33 yards in nine carries.

Marion prevails in key Wamac clash

By Brian Chapman
Gazette sports writer

MAQUOKETA — Marion High School's running backs certainly know how to run right.

In fact, that's about all they did Friday night, consistently slicing off big chunks of yardage behind the right side of their offensive line as the Indians scored early and held off feisty Maquoketa, 14-6, in a key Wamac Conference football contest.

Marion swept 61 yards on four plays with the opening kickoff, temporarily silencing the vocal Maquoketa home crowd.

Todd Waachtmann and Vaughn Klopfenstein cracked up the middle for 13 and eight yards before Tom Benkusky latched onto quarterback Kent Mahurin's pitchout and slipped around the right end for 24 yards, ending up on the Cardinals' nine yard line. Klopfenstein then blasted off right tackle for the game's initial score.

In the second quarter Klopfenstein picked off Jay Rollinger's errant pass and returned it 10 yards to the Maquoketa 42. Again, the Indians made short work of the Cardinals, Twachtmann ripping 37 yards on the first play of the series. Four snaps later Klopfenstein plunged one yard for his second TD and Marion led, 14-0.

Despite the quick two touchdown lead, Marion Coach Bob Thurness remained wary of the Cardinals.

"No, I was never confident of the win," he said, shaking his head. "You can't be when you play a fine football team like that. It's hard to go on the road in the Wamac (Conference); it's especially tough when you have to play a fine football team like Maquoketa."

In preseason picks Wamac coaches had overwhelmingly named Marion as the favorite to capture the league title and tapped the Cardinals as the chief threat to sidetrack the Indians.

Wash wins, Linn-Mar loses

Details on page 3B.

In the second half, Maquoketa made every attempt to live up to that expectation.

The Cardinals demonstrated they, too, knew what to do with an opening kickoff. Flicking a pop pass to reserve quarterback Rich Smith, sending Troy Crawford off right tackle one time, then left tackle another, using counter action in the backfield, or just plain sneaking the ball, Rollinger orchestrated a 70-yard, 11 play march at the start of the third period.

Jon Wallace went the final four yards and cut the Marion lead to 14-6. Rollinger's pass attempt for a two point conversion fell short.

The remainder of the second half was dominated by the defenses. Twice in the fourth quarter the Cardinals denied Marion first downs on fourth and short yardage, once on the Maquoketa 16-yard line, the other on the Maquoketa 12.

But it was the Indian defense that assured Marion, ranked third in the Associated Press Class 3A poll, of its fourth win against no losses.

After taking over on its own 12 with two minutes remaining, Maquoketa moved to its

Phils extend N.L. East lead

United Press International

While Bake McBride shook the the Expos, Vern Ruhle shattered the Reds.

McBride hit the first pitch of the ninth inning off David Palmer over the right field fence for his ninth home run Friday night to lift the Philadelphia Phillies to a 2-1 victory over the Montreal Expos.

The victory moved the Phillies 1½ games ahead of the second-place Expos in the National League East.

Reliever Tug McGraw, 4-4, took over for starter Dick Ruthven in the eighth inning to pick up the triumph.

The Expos, who didn't get a hit until Rowland Office singled with two out in the fourth, tied the score in the sixth when Jerry White doubled to right and scored on Rodney Scott's single to left.

Philadelphia took a 1-0 lead in the second when Garry Maddox cracked his 11th home run.

Montreal, which had only four hits, threatened in the seventh when Andre Dawson doubled high off the wall in center, but Gary Carter popped out and, after issuing an intentional walk to Warren Cromartie, Ruthven struck out Larry Parrish to end the inning.

In Houston, Ruhle tossed a four-hitter in outdueling Tom Seaver to pitch Houston to a 2-0 victory over Cincinnati.

Jose Cruz knocked in a run in the first inning and Craig Reynolds added an RBI in the second as the first place Astros dropped the third-place Reds 3 1-2 games behind in the NL West with only seven games remaining.

Ruhle, 11-4, struck out two and walked none in registering his fifth complete game. It was his second shutout of the year.

The Astros collected only three hits off Seaver, 10-8, in seven innings but they turned two hits into runs in the first two innings in snapping Seaver's six-game winning streak.

In the first, Joe Morgan led off with a walk, advanced to third on two infield grounders and scored on Cruz' bloop single to left. Art Howe led off the second with a double, moved to third on Alan Ashby's line out to right and scored on Reynolds' sacrifice fly.

Reds' leadoff hitter Dave Collins singled to open the game but was removed when second baseman Morgan fielded Ken Griffey's grounder, tagged Collins and threw to first for a double play.

In other National League games, Chicago outscored Pittsburgh 9-8, Atlanta beat San Francisco 5-3 and St. Louis defeated New York 5-1.

Meanwhile in the American League, the Yankees' Eric Soderholm virtually settled the American League race Friday.

Soderholm, criticized earlier this year by team owner George Steinbrenner for a lack of production, hit a grand slam in a six-run third inning, enabling the Yankees to reduce their

Lopez leads at Dallas

DALLAS (UPI) — Nancy Lopez Melton birdied the final hole Friday to post a 3-under-par 69 under windy conditions and take a one-stroke lead over JoAnne Carner and hard luck rookie Myra Van Hoose after one round of the Dallas Classic.

Lopez, returning to the form that has made her the most feared player on the LPGA tour, almost holed a six-iron for an eagle on the 345-yard 18th and the resulting 1-foot birdie putt gave her a start on winning for the second straight year in Dallas.

"That positive attitude I've had in the past is back and that helps me a lot," said Lopez. "I'd like to win the last three tournaments this year. If I do that would give me a chance to be Player of the Year."

Van Hoose shared second place with Carner at 2-under 70 despite being bitten on the ankle by an ant and having that ankle swell rapidly through the rest of the round.

She was rushed to a hospital following her round and the doctor who tended to her ankle suggested that she not compete in today's second round.

Alone in fourth place at 1-under 71 was Kathy Postlewait. No one else could beat par on a blustery, cloudy afternoon. Jane Blalock, Penny Pulz and Lori Garbacz shot par 72.

Trevino in 4-way tie

EPSOM, England (UPI) — Lee Trevino birdied the final hole Friday for a 5-under-par 67 to join a four-way tie for the lead after two rounds of the $240,000 Bob Hope British Classic over the 6,535-yard RAC Country Club course.

Trevino, who finished his U.S. schedule last Sunday with a victory in the Texas Open at San Antonio, had a two-day total of 11-under 133 to share the lead with Germany's Bernhard Langer (67) and Britain's Brian Waites (65) and Gordon Brand (66).

Spain's Severiano Ballesteros, the Masters champion, shot a 68 and stood one shot back along with first-round leader Eamonn Darcy of Ireland, who had a 70 and Australia's Greg Norman, who fired nine birdies for a 64.

Allison, Bonnett fastest

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Alabama's Bobby Allison and Neil Bonnett led qualifying heats Friday at Martinsville Speedway for Sunday's $138,300 Old Dominion 500 NASCAR Grand National Race.

Allison, driving a Ford Thunderbird, wheeled around the .525-mile track at 88.279 mph for the No. 3 spot on the starting grid. Bonnett, behind the wheel of a Mercury, turned the track at 88.151 mph.

Buddy Baker won the pole Thursday in his Chevrolet with a speed of 88.593 mph, a new Old Dominion 500 qualifying record. Harry Gant claimed the second position, pushing his Oldsmobile to 88.502 mph.

Top seeds eliminated

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — Americans Harold Solomon and Vitas Gerulaitis, seeded first and second, respectively, both were eliminated Friday in the quarterfinals of a $75,000 Grand Prix Tennis Tournament.

Matching topspin for topspin, unseeded Wolfgang Popp of West Germany eliminated Solomon, 7-5, 7-5.

Gerulaitis put up more resistance but still fell to Italy's Adriano Panatta, 6-3, 1-6, 2-6.

Campanella files suit

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — Former Dodger catcher Roy Campanella, paralyzed in a 1958 automobile accident, has filed a $1 million claim against Beverly Hills charging that city negligence caused him to fall out of his wheelchair and break both legs last May.

Attorney Richard Oliver, who is representing the former baseball great, said the accident occurred at the American Film Institute, headquartered at Greystone Mansion, and the claim was filed Sept. 17.

Oliver said Campanella had been the guest of honor at the screening of a movie at the institute May 1.

Hawk star pleads innocent

ATLANTA (UPI) — Atlanta Hawks guard Eddie Johnson entered a plea of innocent in Fulton County Superior Court Friday to charges of cocaine possession and driving violations stemming from his arrest more than two months ago.

The all-star guard, who played Thursday night in the Hawks' exhibition win over the Philadelphia 76ers, made his plea before Judge Sam McKenzie during a brief hearing.

His attorney, Marvin Arrington, also entered a number of motions, including a request to suppress the evidence relating to Johnson's arrest because of what the attorney contends was an illegal search and seizure. The motions will be heard Nov. 10.

Finsterwald leads Seniors

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — Dow Finsterwald, PGA Player of the Year in 1958, fired a 3-under-par 69 Friday to take a one-stroke lead in the first round of the World Seniors Invitational golf tournament.

Finsterwald had four birdies and one bogey over the Quail Hollow Country Club course and finished a stroke ahead of Arnold Palmer and Don January.

Griffith close to signing

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — All-America Darrell Griffith, the high-leaping "Dr. Dunkenstein" who led Louisville to the NCAA national title, was reported close Friday to signing a $1.5 million five-year contract with the NBA Utah Jazz.

Griffith was the No. 1 draft pick of the Jazz, who hope his crowd-pleasing style of play will improve attendance at the Salt Lake City Salt Palace, where the Jazz generally drew 5,000 to 7,000 fans last year.

Team officials hope the formal signing of the 6-foot-4 guard will be completed by tonight's exhibition game between the Indiana Pacers and the Jazz in Freedom Hall in Louisville, Griffith's hometown.

Ali and Holmes clash

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Muhammad Ali showed up at Larry Holmes' training session Friday and got into a shouting match with the World Boxing Council champion.

Ali, trying to become champion for the fourth time, watched Holmes spar with Marvin Stinson and shouted, "You're in trouble."

"I'm gonna eat you up," said Ali.

"You're gonna spit me out," replied Holmes.

"I want you," shouted Ali.

"You're gonna get me," shouted Holmes.

Holmes then told a good-sized crowd at the Caesars Palace Sports Pavilion: "I swear to God it will be over in eight rounds."

The fight will be held next Thursday night.

Oelwein comes back, overwhelms Waukon

By Jack Ogden

Senior sports writer

OELWEIN — Oelwein spotted Waukon an early 3-0 lead and then produced a powerful attack to overpower the Indians 28-3 Friday in a battle of Northeast Iowa Conference leaders.

Waukon scored its field goal the first time it handled the ball, with Scott Sawyer booting it from 31 yards out.

Late in the first quarter the Huskies took the lead for good on a 42-yard pass play from Dan Garceau to Mark Shannon and then wrapped it up on three touchdown runs by Adam Youngblut, who had a spectacular night for the Huskies.

"Our defense did a great job," said Oelwein Coach Gaven "Butch" Grob. "We weren't too concerned about their running game but their passing attack had us worried."

"They threw some new formations at us and I was really concerned until we got the lead."

"Yes, it's nice to be on top in the Northeast Iowa League, but we have Charles City next week and they have already beaten Mason City. In fact, we have three more tough league games."

Both Grob and Waukon boss Orv Hogan figured a Waukon touchdown drive that ended on the Oelwein two midway in the third quarter was the turning point. Scott Willger had picked up a first down on the one when he fumbled.

The Huskies then took the ball at the two and marched 98 yards in just 11 plays to virtually wrap up the decision with a 21-3 lead.

"Yes, the fumble hurt," said Hogan. "You can't blame Willger, it was his running that got us there. But we were down only 14-3 at the time and we had momentum going."

"But we didn't deserve to win. We didn't execute well and we had some missed tackles and dropped passes that hurt."

Hogan admitted he had put in a new shot-gun series and, for awhile, it worked very effectively against the Huskies. "We tried it for one play last week and it went for a 7-0 lead."

Chris Milke, Charlie Brown, and Brent Osland scored a touchdown apiece to spark Prairie to a 20-18 win over Regis in sophomore football action Friday afternoon at Regis.

Dick Parr tallied twice for the Royals and Mike Winkler passed for the other Regis touchdown.

The win gives the Hawks a 3-0-1 record while the loss dropped the Royals to 2-2.

Game of the Week

touchdown," smiled Orv. "But a penalty called it back."

Youngblut, who also picked off a Waukon pass on defense, was the key for Oelwein as it built its record to 4-0 while handing the Indians their first defeat.

He was largely responsible for Oelwein's big edge in rushing, 249 yards to 88 for Waukon. Waukon had the edge in passing, 124-97, but the Huskies used their air game very effectively.

Garceau hit on five of seven pass attempts, although two were intercepted. His first completion was the 42-yarder that gave Oelwein the lead for good with 1:53 left in the first quarter. It was a one-play drive after a short Waukon punt.

Garceau, who last week tied a state record with a 53-yard field goal, attempted one from 58 Friday night but it fell short.

"Actually, Dan can boot them that far," said Grob. "But he just didn't get his foot into that one."

It was a rugged game with plenty of penalties and mistakes. Oelwein was penalized 90 yards and Waukon 100. The Huskies lost four fumbles and Waukon lost a pair.

Penn's winless streak up to 17

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Junior Larry Michalski passed for one touchdown and ran for another Friday night to lead Lehigh to a 35-6 victory over Pennsylvania, extending the Quakers' two-year winless streak to 17 games.

Michalski, playing his first year of varsity football, hit senior end Mark Yaeger with a 22-yard, first-quarter strike to give the Engineers, 2-0-1, a 7-0 lead.

Michalski, who passed for 111 yards and completed seven of 16 attempts, scored himself in the fourth period, taking the ball in from 6 yards out on a triple reverse. Michalski had a 61 percent completion rate going into the game.

Marion sophs win

MAQUOKETA — Steve Panek ran for three touchdowns and Dave Klein added two more as the Marion sophomore football team dumped Maquoketa 38-6 Friday night.

Opposing governors make wager

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — Govs. Charles Thone of Nebraska and Richard Thornburgh of Pennsylvania have made a bet on the outcome of today's Penn State-Nebraska football game.

Thone wagered two choice Nebraska steaks against three pounds of Pennsylvania mushrooms, two bottles of Pennsylvania wine and a package of Hershey chocolate kisses.

Paul Critchlow, a University of Nebraska football player in the 1960s and now Thornburgh's press secretary, said Thornburgh would attend the game on the Penn State campus.

Thone planned to watch the game on television.
